The release of a school yearbook is a special event. It remains inspirational and celebrates the successes, the excitement, and the events that make up a school year. 420 students and 80 faculty and staff create many exceptional memories and this publication is a celebration of all RSGC has to offer. It captures the Georgian culture and demonstrates the Georgian spirit and commitment. I have no doubt after flipping through the pages you will be able to understand what it means to be Georgian.

Of course these publications just don't appear. Special thanks must be given to Ms. Emma Roche and our special guest editor Edmund Lee ('15). Together these two forces have created a vision and have clearly surpassed all expectations. Emma and Edmund have themselves epitomized the Georgian culture and spirit. Congratulations and thanks to them both. Their work is so impressive.

As well, just in case you didn't notice this yearbook does contain the occasional photograph. Our resident photographer, Mr. Tom Stevens (when he is not playing ball hockey, teaching enriched Mathematics, tutoring, getting to know every student, coordinating the Duke of Ed program or fulfilling his role as Director of Admissions) continues to capture every important moment. What a resource and what dedication. Thanks Tom.

So read on and enjoy. It has been quite a year and now the memories will never be forgotten.

from the Yearbook Staff...

Edmund Lee
Yearbook Editor

As you are only on the third page of the book, I hope it has made a good impression on you thus far. This year we have decided to make a completely different book, one that not only "aligns nicely" with the rest of the past RSGC yearbooks on your shelf, it also has a completely different layout than the last 30 or so RSGC yearbooks. Designed to be more of a coffee table book, the amount of text is minimized; and instead of packing photos, the size of each photo is emphasized. With this layout, it is my hope that every word in this book will be read, every photo will be looked at.

There are many people without whom this book could not have been completed. First, I would like to thank Eric Ng for giving me dances, semi, and formal photos, enabling me to complete 12 pages of this book. I also have to thank Hal Hennaford for giving me this opportunity; Tom Stevens for most of the spectacular photos in this book; Chris Yelle from CanGrad Studio for my endless harassment of photos and portraits; and Emma Reche, Tim Hutton, Michelle Carter, and Samz Ghereshy for all the help throughout this book, and especially, keeping my life in the library interesting with the "behind the scene" tour of RSGC.

If you are still reading this, I have hidden some 'easter eggs' on the end sheets (that's the page between the first page and the cover).

Edmund, firstly, we must celebrate the sentiments of Mr. Hennaford. And secondly, we are pleased to inform you that your contract has been renewed – for the production of the 2006 edition of The Georgian! On a more personal note, we want to thank you for your continued effort, dedication and especially, your sense of humour. You have produced another outstanding book and we hope you are as proud of your accomplishment as we are of you.

As spring turned into summer, I realized that it was time to part with the idea that Jackie would return. Our last moment had been sealed with a handshake for God's sake, how passionate was that? It seemed I was my father's daughter after all, incapable of an emotional moment.

I resolved to immerse myself in work. What had Gardonne said? Something to the effect that intellectualization was my best defence? So be it. I wasn't about to let myself slide into some fantasy world in which Jackie would rescue me from myself. I would have to rescue me first.

The most difficult part was deciding what to do. My most decisive moment had come when the pardon arrived by courier. I had stared at the envelope, aware that its four corners held the start of a new life but somehow unable to open it. After several deep breaths, I tore it apart, sliding the paper out with clammy fingers. It was disappointingly unofficial-looking. Perhaps I'd expected it to look like a diploma, with a splashy seal and lots of signatures. After all, I'd graduated from P4W with plenty of distinction.

Nonetheless, I grew to love that pardon. I framed it and hung it on my bedroom wall so that it could be the first thing I saw each morning. It propelled me into action and kept me from wallowing in self-pity that I was truly alone. Alone yes, but free.

I had told Jackie about my desire to write a book about Freud. All of those years studying him and our adventure together fairly screamed for some sort of publication. After making discreet inquiries, I found a small publisher of scientific books who was enthralled with my idea and gave me a small advance. I had thought to go to the University of Toronto Press but was unable to shake off the idea that they would find my notoriety problematic. All of those students being exposed to a murderer's musings, albeit a highly educated one, would not be a good public relations move.

Despite the fact that Anna had contemplated killing me, I still felt a sort of kinship with her. She too had felt the unrelenting need to please her father at great cost to herself. He had left her unable to form meaningful attachments to men other than him. What Freud had done to his daughter was pitiful but at least she had accomplished something with her orphanages and analysis of children. She didn't get the child but she learned to decorate the cradle.

I too, had to do something meaningful. My task was hindered by the fact that Anna had begged me not to reveal her identity or Darwin's contribution to Freud's discoveries. Long years of studying Freud in the Great White North had made him come alive to me and it felt almost sacrilegious to diminish his stature. I would have to separate him from my loyalty to father figures and use my rational, scientific side. Lord knows, I was raised to be rational.

I started my research in August, resolving to show how difficult Freud's task was in prudish Victorian England. At first, I tried to write in my condo, my notes spread out on a dining room table that was never used for cozy dinners. Thoughts would swirl through my head. No, correct that. People would swirl through my head: Anna, Bozo, Gardonne, the Wizard, Freud, Darwin and yes, Jackie. Jackie unfortunately was the majordomo of the swirl-a-thon. I needed a change of venue.

It's a funny thing. When I was in my charming, northern cell I worked quite efficiently even though I was desperate to get out. Here, I was out, free and unable to work. I needed a confined space to concentrate and thus ended up at Robarts Library, that depressing, concrete behemoth at U. of T. The students called it Fort Book which was rather kind in comparison to what I would have named it.

Armed with a special pass, I claimed a carrel for myself and dug into my research. The confinement suited me well and for months I would ease into the same space, pouring out my thoughts onto yellow legal pads. By the winter, I had a manuscript worth editing.

I wrote the book for several reasons, first of which was to save myself. Maybe, in the far recesses of my mind, I hoped for a bestseller that would jolt my family into actually contacting me. I imagined my father, nodding in agreement as the scientific community heaped praise upon me. My mother and sisters would invade Holt's, looking for suitable outfits to wear at my book launch. What a piece of crock!

I wrote the book for Anna as well. She was damaged goods, much like me. We shared an acknowledgement of Freud's genius and the benefits of psychoanalysis. After what Freud had done, Anna still maintained that it was an important treatment. The problem lay with the analyst, not the form of analysis.

What I wouldn't admit to anyone was the third reason. Of course, I fantasized that Jackie would show up at a book signing, brimming with admiration. Why couldn't I stand on my own two feet without feeling that I needed his helping hand? Or his approval? Or both? This infuriated me on a regular basis.

It was early spring again. Idea vs. Morality; Inventive Thought in a Repressive Age was a big hit and I was actually invited to lecture at a convention for psychoanalysts in Toronto. No one of personal consequence had attended my book launch, no father and certainly no Jackie. Gardonne had had the incredible gall to send me a congratulatory note, complete with some rah-rah statement that he knew "I could do it", I was just leaving for the hotel when the charming concierge from downstairs buzzed me with the announcement that I had a package. I knew that if my outstretched palm had a five dollar bill in it, he would bring it up to me so I asked him to do the deed.

It was a large box labeled "fragile" delivered by FedEx. I looked to see who the sender was but there was only an address. Should I open it later, or now? Curiosity won me over and I ran a pair of scissors along the brown, glossy tape that surrounded the package. Inside, encased in white straw was a bubble wrapped object. I picked it up unwrapping with increasingly clumsy fingers. My effort revealed a beautiful bowl. It was Wedgwood blue.

Inside it was a yellow, three-by-five rectangle. On it, were the words, "Only the fittest survive". These words made me ache, had survived but to what advantage? Was this Jackie mocking me or telling me something else. I had no time to decide since I was already at risk of being late for the lecture. I left the bowl on the table.

I thought I would be nervous, speaking in front of so many people, but I wasn't. Once you've actually seen your subject do what Anna did in front of me, nothing else is intimidating. After I finished, I sat on the stage alongside other lecturers, waiting for them to finish. My eyes scanned the audience, looking for the unimaginable. I found him there, row 3, far left, nodding his head and smiling directly at me. My other survivor, Jackie.

Thoughts on a Subway Escalator

When they are fatigued and I am rested.
They will regret it later in the day.
As frenzied as stampeding buffalo
Trying to catch the bus before it's gone.
I watch the desperate race up the stairs.
Its slow climb almost putting me to sleep.

I turn and step on the escalator
Their feeble attempt to block my way home.
I step out, the doors barely missing me,
Waking me from my fatigued position.

In the Presence of Royalty
By Andrew Murphy, Grade 11

The day I met the queen of hearts,
Is one I shant forget.
My sister said "We should not part",
But never would I let,
That stop me from what I did do,
From playing 'neath the stars.
From looking for a simple truth,
But wandering much too far

I saw a cat, a smile so bright.
The sun could finally rest.
A man or two with quite a plight,
Their minds not at their best.
But then I saw the queen of hearts,
The crown upon her head,
Re-arranged with mismatched parts,
All misconceptions shed.

Alas, my name's not Alice,
yet I went down the rabbit hole,
And once you cause such mafice,
You'll see no grassy knolls.

So listen to my screams,
And listen to these words,
This nightmares never ending,
It's not fun to be disturbed.

The Sky Lit Up

By Marc Blouin, Grade 11

No sooner had the final numbers of the countdown left his mouth then the sky was swallowed up by a sea of light, and for just a second, everything was white. The thought that the explosion might have permanently blinded him crossed his mind and for a moment fear crept to his brain. Had Samuel Allison been a religious man, he would have fallen to his knees and begged forgiveness, begged the messiah to return to him his sight. The poor man outside the temple. Had Samuel Allison been a religious man, he could have prayed for the voices that could have to be silenced to win this war. Samuel Allison was not a religious man. And no god was going to save the people from this monstrosity that they had created here. Now it had their name on it.

Having to delay the test 45 minutes because of bad weather had put everyone on edge, and the tension in the room made it almost difficult to breathe. They had decided to test the implosion core, the more complicated and powerful of the two designs. Nobody worried about the fission core device. It was simpler, and seemed less likely to fail in his opinion. That and they only had enough U-235 for one fission bomb. He had volunteered to do the actual counting, for the benefit of the military personnel stationed farther away from the test sight. Years of research, secrecy and sacrifice were reduced to a ten second countdown.

It was not so much the light that terrified him, but the silence. There were about 40 seconds of it, while the brilliant clouds continued to rise. It was the strangest duality he had ever known: serenity and horror intertwined. For the first time in years, his mind went completely blank. He couldn't take his eyes off the expanding cloud. It was mushroom shaped, but didn't hold its form for very long. For the first time in his life, Samuel Allison acknowledged the downfall of man: genius.

A rude awakening from his trance-like state came with the arrival of the shockwave. He was almost knocked to the ground by the riot that followed. The calm before the storm was over and the ear-splitting roar filled his skull. The heat was almost as violent.

"My god, we're not far back enough," he thought, but soon his fears were put to rest. The horrid, grinding noise that gnawed at his skull like an army of rats stopped. And again, for the second time, silence crept into his soul. He took off his dark glasses and looked around to see how the test had affected the others. Their facial expressions must have resembled his own, he imagined. A mixture of satisfaction, wonder, terror and relief showed on all of their faces. Oppenheimer stood up and smiled.

"It worked" he said quietly, the words catching in his throat, and sat back down.

"Now we're all sons of bitches," said Bainbridge. Allison couldn't help but agree.

Samuel cannot stop thinking about that moment. Even years later the test will always be on his mind. He can see himself in the same bunker, watching the tower, counting down until the detonation. Sometimes he wonders what would have happened if the device failed. He pictures himself climbing the tower to find out what had gone wrong. Sometimes he has nightmares of himself reaching the top, to check for errors and the bomb explodes. That heat he remembers comes back to horrify him once more. But after hearing the accounts of survivors -of what he helped unleash- he's no longer sure he doesn't deserve that. After all, dreams are much less disfiguring than the burns he has seen.

That idiot McCarthy is on another rant. His target this time is Oppenheimer. Lately his former colleague had become increasingly vocal in his political oppositions and former ties with the Communist party.

"And what better way to distract the American people than to turn them against their own kind?" he thinks. "It was bad enough that Frank Oppenheimer, a physicist almost as brilliant as his brother, Robert, was reduced to raising cattle by the bloody House of Un-American Activities, but now they're using him as a platform to attack other brilliant minds. Maybe this political virus is the fate that awaits us all." Allison wonders as he gets up from the armchair. He has always been an advocate of free, unrestricted research access for all atomic scientists. His role in establishing the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists was sure to get him some attention from McCarthy's witch-hunt.

He groans, switching off the radio. Politics would have to wait until after breakfast. In his hurry and carelessness, he neglected the eggs he was cooking, and they started to blacken. The charring smell entered his nose and without warning he was back in Hiroshima. His small kitchen became the black, apocalyptic wasteland that used to be a city. He remembers the hospital rooms. The horrifying wounds were right there, in front of his eyes. The dull wail that filled those makeshift hospitals fills his skull to bursting once again.

The horrifying flashback ends as abruptly as it had started. Samuel drops his coffee cup, and it smashes on the hardwood floor. The heat around his toes brings him back to reality in time to see his eggs burned beyond recognition.

"I guess I'm skipping breakfast this morning," he thinks as he re-arranged his tie. It is still early in the morning, but he can already tell that it will be a brilliantly sunny day. "But it's always sunny for the victors" he says out loud as he grabs his briefcase. Besides, it didn't matter how bright the sun was, it would always seem dull compared to the test. The day that changed his life forever, and the events that followed it left him with burns that not even the most skilled surgeon could ever treat.

Habitat for Humanity build

The Habitat for Humanity movement was founded in 1976 in Americus, Georgia. The program developed from the concept of "partnership housing" where those in need of adequate shelter work side by side with volunteers from all walks of life to build simple, decent houses. This year, three students from Royal St. George's College and two students from Havergal College built a brick and mortar home in Zambia.

Throughout the fall and winter, Eddie Beup, Jordan Hyde, Matthew Muncaster, Thomas Pepper, Michael Sherman and Mr. Alex Shum worked hard to raise awareness about the challenges confronting families in East Africa and the lack of access to education and safe drinking water. Together with RSGC's Guild, Prefects, key members from the RSGC parent community, teachers and students from both the senior and junior school, as well as friends and corporate sponsors, the school raised over $92,000 for Free the Children. During March Break, the team traveled to Kenya and Tanzania, joined with other students from across North America, visited several Kipsigis and Maasai communities, and worked with Free the Children to help build a new nursery for a primary school. The funds raised will pay for the construction not only of eight more schoolhouses but also provide for new washrooms, teacher's salaries, classroom furniture, access to safe drinking water, medical supplies as well as alternative income opportunities for many families. Featured in the Toronto Star, and interviewed by Radio Canada International, the team's account of the expedition spread the story of how our school community came together to help others across the globe and reflects the growing reach of "community service" at RSGC. Thanks to everyone for their encouragement, generosity and support.

School Building with Free the Children Kenya & Tanzania

"Traveling to Africa completely opened my eyes to how large the world really is, and how we are so easily caught up in our own bubble of issues as we sit casually and watch the world go by. It showed me how insignificant the little things I used to worry about day to day really are. The big picture is so much more important."

- Matthew Muncaster

"My trip to Africa was one of the most amazing experiences of my life. It was about building relationships with local communities. The first hand experiences with the school children and the people from the communities were what made the trip so amazing."

- Jordan Hyde

"Playing with the children at the school was my favorite part. At times all the children rushing towards you was overwhelming, but, it was always heart-warming."

- Michael Sherman

"Being able to say I gave something solid to the Motony community and see the sunrise at 6000m, that's what has made my trip worth it in every way. I would do it again in a heartbeat."

- Thomas Pepper

"I would like to thank everyone who made this trip the success that it was from our donors, to the staff at RSGC, to my family, and to the kids in Africa. I will never forget you!"

Rock Climbing

On Tuesdays, you can find KSGC's climbers at the Rock Oasis climbing gym at Front and Bathurst. Our group has climbers ranging from newbies working on top-rope to returning lead-climbers (like Cam, Andrew, Andrew, and Alex). Everyone worked together, belaying and encouraging one another through challenging problems on climbs as high as 60' at the indoors climbing gym. We trained, bulked up, improved our fitness, endurance, muscle tone and flexibility indoors and had a blast, but we also took advantage of the beautiful spring weather this year for a two-day course outdoors at Rattlesnake Point and, with the help of Andrew Coffey from Adventureworks, we learned how to safely setup our own climbs over the cliff and tested our skills against the rockface at this spectacular part of the Niagara Escarpment.

Speaking Union

The Speaking Union has enjoyed quite a successful year. Both of our school tournaments, the Challenge Saucer and Will's Words, went very well, with our competitors performing admirably. Also, with the introduction of free pizza in our weekly House league debates, attendance rates have been through the roof! Everyone who competed in inter-school tournaments did very well, and some of the highlights are as follows. Alexis Nemeth won the Senior Full Field Trophy, beating out some of the best debaters from Independent schools across the province. At the International Independent Schools Public Speaking Competition, held in Aurora this year, Erik Reed managed to place 7th among the other Canadians in the tournament. This excellent result won him an invitation to compete on the Canadian team at The Worlds Individual Debating and Public Speaking Competition held in Cape Town, South Africa. At this prestigious tournament, which was attended by the best speakers from 15 different countries, Erik managed to place 12th overall. In early April, Sam Sibalis, Michael Black and I attended The Norah McRae Public Speaking Tournament. We have won it for the past two years, but this year missed 1st place by less than one third of a point. Congratulations to all of our members on a fantastic year!

Boxing

We worked on the speed bag, pounded the heavy bag, shadow boxed, skipped rope, and, yes, even sparred [naturally head gear and mouthguards were a must]. Every Wednesday, the RSGC Boxing Club headed over to the Bloor Street Boxing Club at Bloor and Dundas Street West to be taken through the paces by our boxing expert, Colin. This was a superb workout, a great way to improve coordination, and an excellent way to gain self-confidence. We will continue this club next year and want to encourage as many students, especially those in the lower grades, to come out.

Weight Training

After school, Arnold Schwarzenegger hopefuls entered RSGC's Fitness and Technology Centre to put their muscles to the test. We learned about proper lifting technique, workout routines, and diet. We also had the opportunity to listen to a guest speaker who was an expert in the realm of diet and nutrition.

Great strength and muscle gains were made by a number of dedicated individuals. Let's raise our protein shakes to toast another successful year.

To kick off this yearbook I would like to thank my parents for forcing me to go to RSGC. At the time in Gr. 8, I thought that RSGC would be the worst four years of my life: trekking from the Etob, not going to public high school, uniform, etc... Now I look back and think that this was one of the best choices my parents could have ever made for me. I would also like to thank Mr. Shum for his extensive extra help with me and all the grads in Cale, Dr. Leatch for showing me that it's better to take a class with him than to have a spare. All the other Prefects of '07 (best prefects ever!) for all the hard work we put into Sensation Knights, 338, Semis, Prom, Spirit Days, these guys deserve a lot of respect and have honestly, set the bar. Also like to thank, the amazing talents of Lucas, working together to make the best Thursday assemblies, movies, skits and scripts. I have had so much fun running assemblies and seeing guys laugh at the videos and skits that we pull out. Remembering the awesome cab rides with Huds and Reed (Hastings TRANCE) treatin it like our BP and AP, the sick jams every week, Bowlby's place, all the laughs with Tom, squamish, outwain bound, Brymer's chuckles and all the nights out with the guys, making me wish we still had gr. 13. Thanks a lot Knights!

I have to thank my parents for everything, and also for helping me with school when I let them. Thanks to all my teachers and faculty for helping me through it all, and special thanks to the ones who saw me through the whole process, especially those who helped keep me in it. To the guys, it's hard to believe it's over. Seems like yesterday that I was getting detention from Mr. Denis in Gr. 3. Some seriously good times this year... grad trip...baby carriage... too much...Thanks for everything Tan.

The beautiful thing about learning is that nobody can take it away from you.

I started at RSGC in grade 9, and I have had four great years. The best part of my experience was all of the clubs and activities I was able to participate in. A quick shout-out to all of my basketball teammates, especially those who have been trying to win a championship since grade 9, we finally did it. Congratulations! Thanks to all of the teachers who made my RSGC experience what it was. Whether it was supervising a club, or coaching a team, or helping me understand difficult material. All of the teachers have helped to give my classmates and me a great four years. Finally, special thanks to my parents, without them I never would have been able to attend RSGC and have such an amazing high school experience.

Bowlby Christopher

I would like to thank everyone all the great friends I have made at RSGC over my high school career. I appreciate how the school has given me every opportunity to succeed, play sports, and prepare me for the future. Thank you to everyone who I have played on a sports team with. Winning the basketball championship this year will be something I remember. RSGC has allowed me to become productive and has taught me to balance school and all of my extra curricular activities. So much has happened in our short four years of high school, we have seen the best and worst of everyone in our grade. Finally I would like to thank all my teachers, and especially Mr. L'Arcy for inspiring me to challenge myself and not stop learning. Overall, thanks to everyone in the RSGC community for these amazing last four years.

FINALLYYY to the boyssss thanks for the jamss it was a good final year. Looking forward to university!!!

To all the amazing people who have pushed, sometimes hard enough to border on assault, me to always do my best: thank you. Your friendship and belief in my potential never cease to impress or inspire me. To my parents who I can't believe have put up with me for all this time; you guys have always given me your full support, have always been understanding and never stopped believing in me. Charlie, all I can say is thank God you only just got bigger than me or I must likely would not be alive to write this.

It's been a while. I've learned so much and lost so little. It's easy to forget the bad times because something good was always around the corner. The skits, the dances, the girls.

I couldn't imagine getting through my high school career without my friends and teachers. The dance offs, the galas, the judo tournaments. Mr. Hannaford who never stopped supporting me and who never left his youth. The plays, a funny thing/twelfth night. Dr. Newton who can simply do anything, but for some reason chose teaching. I'm so thankful for that. The 12 minute runs, the klutz jams, the dictionary wars. Of course Mr. Darcy, who didn't just teach me about binary, but about life and discipline. I'll never forget his lessons. The chapel speeches, the awkward assembly jokes. I can't forget about my social worker, friend, and high school sweetheart Ms. Kaye. Thank you for spending your time helping me find out who I am. Even though it's kinda your job. The lipsync performances with my boy TWW (we made history bud). Last shut out goes to my elite team of indestructible prefects. I hate to brag, but I have no choice. Even through moments of misery, sadness and despair you guys kept on truckin' and kept me smiling. If I were born a girl, I'd marry you all. The Michael Jackson impressions and of course the #1 hit videos with Carl "C-Note" Noel and the infamous Snorlex Productions. I didn't always enjoy taking responsibility, but it came with the job description. No matter how upset I got, I discovered who I was at this school, therefore I am thankful. I guess Uncle Ben Parker was right. With great power comes great responsibility.

Can't stop...cuz it won't stop.

Matthew Chong

The past four years at RSGC have been an enjoyable experience. It was hard changing to a different school after attending my previous one for nine years, but everything worked out fine. I've been able to get to know some of classmates well, and I've made lots of friends. I'll never forget always going out for lunch with Brendan, Matthew, Nick, Andrew, and Mark to Sushi, Thai, Pizza, Subway, and George's. Nor can I forget all the wasted hours trying to do work during my spare in Grade 11-12 with Nick Latremille.

Matthew Chan

William Chan

Time flies...

During my four years at RSGC, I've had some great experiences, such as; the full contact soccer games in Squamish and the ball hockey games on the tarmac. I've had some great teachers that definitely made my life at RSGC more enjoyable and entertaining. Notables include: Mr. Reid, making classes as enjoyable as possible, Dr. Leatch, for his rules of life and his various plans for making money, Mr. Ferrar, for his 'this day in history', Mr. Shum, for always trying to make calculus humorous and enjoyable, Mr. Donnelly, who's teaching style can sometimes be erratic, but a nice guy nonetheless, and Mr. Holdsworth, who did his best to make English a laugh (Best wishes!).

To conclude, I like to thank all my classmates and teachers for making RSGC an experience I'll never forget. I also cannot forget my parents for allowing me to go to private school for 13 years after being bussed in JK.

My last four years at RSGC have been some of the best times of my life. I'd first like to thank my family for sending me to this great school, for being there during all the good times and for supporting me during the bad times. I'd also like to thank every one of my teachers throughout the years, with a special thanks to Dr. Leatsh and Mr. Rankin: you two taught me many important lessons in my final years and always managed to make class hilarious. A special thanks to Mr. Lee and Mr. Donnelly for your support both on and off the ice. Thanks to Ms. Kaye and Ms. Wager: you girls are like mom's really cool sisters to me. Lastly, I'd like to thank all of my RSGC boys, both the ones graduating and the ones not fortunate to be here with us today. I'll never forget you guys and the ruckuses in grade 10 Stewart/Ride French class, Italy trip '06, Montreal hockey trips, Dominican trip, and all the crazy weekends.

Javraj Dhaliwal

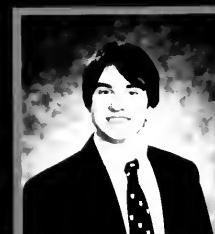

My time at RSGC has been quite rewarding. I have been here since Grade 7, and have enjoyed my time here. I would like to take this chance to thank my parents for continuously supporting me throughout my studies, and I would also like to thank my teachers who have helped me along the way. At RSGC I have gained invaluable knowledge which will aide me in my future endeavors.

It has been a great six years here at RSGC. During these years I have made some good friends and had some good times. I feel that St. George's has prepared me for the next stage of my life but it is sad to be leaving the school after spending so many years here. I would like to give a shout out to John V., Coach Lucks, and Mr. Van Herk for their help along the way, but most of all I would like to thank my parents for sending me to St. George's.

Adios,

I have had a great 7 years at St. George's. I have met people who I know will be my great friends for life, gained a great education, and had the opportunity to be taught by an amazing faculty. To Mr. D'Arcy, Ms. Miller, Mr. Hannaford, Mr. Doerksen, Ms. Ghoreshy, Mr. Fowler, Fr. Donkin, Ms. Kaye, Mr. Jamieson, Ms. Buchanan and Ms. Wagar, I can only offer my true thanks. You have all helped me and taught me a great deal during my time here. I especially want to thank my parents, without them I would never have been able to have such a great high school experience.

Eric Gagne

I would like to thank my mother and the rest of my family first and foremost for helping me through my high school career. It's been six years and I can't think of a better place to spend it than RSGC. Whether on the ice, on the field, in the portable, or sitting in class the years past have been ones that I will reflect on forever. The things I have learned go far beyond the classroom walls. I would sincerely like to thank the teachers who have helped me on the way: Mr. Doerksen, Dr. Leatch, Mr. Ackley, Mr. Donnelly, Mrs. Miller, Mr. Reid, Mr. Lee and Hal. Finally, to my bimbies: WB, AB, HO, JL, PK, IS, SB, BT, CJ, DL, DD, GS, CR, MB, MC (JD).

Andrew S Harris

Over my eight years at Royal St. George's College, there have been a lot of ups and downs, but I'm happy to be leaving the school in such a positive mindset. There are a lot of people that have made my years here enjoyable (mom, dad, my dog Charlie), but nothing can compare to the hard work of my teachers, including Ms. Richter, Mr. Algarvio, Mr. Shum, Ms. Somerville, Mr. Reid, Father Donkin, Mr. Fitzpatrick, Mr. Wade-West, and a huge thank you to Mr. Martin. There are no words I can use to describe my thanks other than 'I'll schlep on over someday with my axe (instrument) to visit.'

MLS, Latty, Almonds, and Sam for making our Grad Year such a success.

Some other highlights include the RSGCBHL with Mr. Darcy and Sensci Miller, Japan '04 with the band, Zambia '07 with Ms. Roche and Gledhill, and cross-country since I came to RSGC back in Grade Five. Everything was amazing, and I'll never forget my time here.

"Education is learning what you didn't even know you didn't know."

I will never forget Mr. Donnelly's "ground and pound" sessions in AP economics or Mr. Lee's grade 12 accounting, also known as "The best class of the day." I would like to take this opportunity to thank a few of my teachers: Mr. Doerksen for challenging and supporting me in AP Calculus, Mr. Van Herk for not only an incredible AP statistics class but for all the guidance you have given me, Mrs. Miller and Dr. Newton for teaching the best English and AP Writer's Craft courses, Dr. Leatch for an unforgettable Canadian History class. Finally, I would like to thank the rest of my teachers, from grade 4 to grade 12 who I haven't mentioned, for making my experience here at RSGC not only amazing, but memorable.

Nicholas Johnston

First of all, I would like to thank everyone who helped and supported me throughout my high school career, especially my parents for convincing me to go to RSGC in the first place. I have thoroughly enjoyed my four years and certainly will not soon forget them. I will always remember the great times I had on different sports teams, especially the volleyball team, as well as the many experiences gained from the variety of school trips. I will always be grateful for my time at RSGC and will cherish my many memories of this school for the remainder of my life.

Alexander Hucal

First off, I'd like to thank my parents for talking me out of going to De La Salle for high school. You've always known what's best for me and I'm grateful for your judgment, which has always led me in the right direction. Although I resented your decision at first, I quickly came to realize that Royal Saint George's was the perfect fit for me.

I'd also like to thank all of the teachers who've made such a great impact on my life these last four years.

I'd like to extend special thanks to Mr. D'Arcy, you've always pushed me to reach my full potential, and I'm eternally grateful for the privilege of learning from you. I'd also like to thank Mr. Hannaford, Mr. Fitz, and Ms. Kaye, your constant support and incredible advice was what allowed us to have such an amazing year. Also, Mr. Reed, for being the nicest teacher I've ever had, you're French/History class has been a constant source of enjoyment over this past year.

I'd also like to thank all of the Knights who've made my high school experience truly incredible. Although we're all moving on to new and different places, I'm sure we'll all remain friends for years to come.

Finally, I'd like to say congrats to the whole '07 Class. Few classes can claim to have had such an interesting and eventful four years as we've had. I'm sure we're all going to go on to do great things.

Christopher Jackson

Wow, I could have never imagined that 7 amazing years of my life could fly by so fast; it seems like just yesterday I started up at RSGC. I've had some fabulous teacher and incredible friends. Mr. Jamieson, who has been there with me all the way, thank you so much, Mr. Stevens, Ms. Lanigan, Mr. Miller (sensei), Mr. O'Leary, and Athletic department. Thank you boys for all the good times, Italy, May 24, Niagara, Halifax x3, Quebec, Montreal, Collingwood, BC, formals, semi's, and all the crazy jams. Mr. D'Arey, I wouldn't have made it across that tarmac without you, I'm sure, not just me but the whole ball hockey league couldn't thank you more. As for my family, thank you for putting up with the tough times and guiding me threw an unforgettable 7 years.

It has been a fast four years for me at Royal St. George's College, but I could not have asked for a better group of people to spend it with. Having such diverse groups of people within our grade is something unique, something I personally enjoyed from day one.

Aside from everyone in my grade, I would like to thank all the teachers I've had over the years, especially John Viljoen for an inspiring art class, which has been a large contribution to my post-secondary choice of Architecture.

In addition, I would also like to thank Marc Fowler, Richard Holdsworth, Alex Shum, Morris Reid, Gerry Doerksen, Adrian Thornbury and Hal Hannaford for the final great year at RSGC. And of course, I would like to thank my parents for everything they helped me with.

Joseph Latner

Ira Lewy

It has been a memorable 6 years at St. Georges. Before I part ways with this incredible institution I'd like to thank those that guided me towards a brighter future. Mr. Darcy, Dr. Newton, Miss Somerville, Mr. Farrar, Dr. Leatch, Mr. Holdsworth. To all those who believed in and supported me; your efforts will not be in vain! Thank you to my mother and father for sending me to such an amazing school. I hope to see you all in the future.

Nicholas Latremoille

Grade 7...<blink>...Grade 12. Where did the time go? The past six years at RSGC have been great, the greatest being this one. I would like to thank my teachers from this year and past years. Mr. Reid, one of the nicest people on earth; Mr. Shum, who has always been supportive; Mr. Van Herk, for making the transition into university so smooth and Mr. Martin, "bebop duang chong" (if you were in band, you'll get it) and everyone else who has taught me. They were always very supportive and it was a joy going to class. I would also like to thank my family for giving me the opportunity to attend such a great school. Some of my unforgettable memories are Dr. Death, Boxing Club, Cooking Club, Japan and Russia band trips. Of course, how could I forget getting so much work done in my spares (ya right) with Matt Chong (for two years straight). Another thing, whenever you are feeling sad, think of Russell Peters. Confucius say, "you go to jail, bad boy." I now close with a message for all.

"Don't take life too seriously. You'll never get out of it alive."

My 3 years at R.S.G.C have been some of the best years of my life. I would like to thank my family for giving me the opportunity to come to such an incredible institution and their continuing support throughout my years at St. George's. My experience has finally come to an end, and I couldn't have chosen a better school to attend. Thanks to all my friends for making my years at R.S.G.C such an incredible experience. Next I would like to thank my girlfriend Emily for putting up with me in my final year. You truly made it one of the best years of my life. Finally, thank you to Mr. Rankin, Mr. Reid, Dr. Newton, Ms. Miller, and of course Dr. Leatch for helping me learn so much my final year. Furthermore, I would not have gotten through my time at R.S.G.C without the help of Ms. Wagner and Mr. Van Herk. Thank you R.S.G.C for all you have done for me.

So much has changed since my first day. Only in retrospect can I really appreciate the sacrifices that we've made by my parents, my teachers and my friends that culminated in the past six years of my life. I want to start with my biggest thank you; to my friends; for being there, the good times and bad and helping me when I wanted it least and needed it most. I'm proud to say that I'm graduating with this class. I owe so many thank yous to so many people for tolerating my antics; a big thanks to Algarvio, for getting me on the right track where it all started, and Girvan and Newton, Reid and the infamous V, Sarallas and Dr. Leatch. I'm glad I can look back and love my time in high school. A final best of luck to my brother in his years ahead.

Ian Love

I have been at RSGC for a grand total of four years. It seems like just yesterday I was a little grade 9 being gauntletted by the grade 12s. Now I am the grade 12. I would like to thank all of my teachers over the past couple of years especially Mr. Shum (you made calculus seem like nothing), Mr. Fowler (I can now kind of understand physics), Ms. Ghoreshy (thanks for letting us draw on your board so much), Mr. Holdsworth (I hope you are better as soon as possible English just does not make sense without you), and finally Dr. Newton (All I can think of is empty space). To all the boys of my class I hope you all succeed in future projects. To my boys we have had some great times and we will have many more.

Thank you for the time I have spent at R.S.G.C. it has been a great experience for me and I have learned a lot from the community. I would like to give a special thanks to my friends, family and the faculty that has shared these years with me. Special thanks to Sensei Miller for all of the great advice you have given me both in judo and in my personal life. Thank you all and I wish you all the best in the years to come.

Matthew McKerroll

That first day I started at RSCG in grade nine seems so long ago. I have had so many great experiences and made a lot of good friends over my four years. I am really going to miss this place. But at the same time I realize it is time for me to move on and I can't wait to get away to university. I would like to give special thanks to all my friends, you know who you are, and I hope see you around. Thanks to Mr. D'arcey, if it wasn't for you and Computer engineering I would probably not be going into engineering, also special thanks to all my science teachers Mrs. Ghershy, Mr. Fowler, and Ms Girvan you all really made a difference in my high school years.

Wow, has it really been 10 years since I came to RSGC? It has felt like a dream. I still remember the days of grade 3 when Mr. McElroy told us stories of his youth and threatened to throw kids out the window, but not wanting to hurt the payment, haha. In those days we still had to write exams, which, I might add, was a horrible experience especially when you're that young, lol. However, these have really been the greatest years of my life.

Over the past 10 years here, I have made many friends, many who I have become very close to and I have also made close ties with many of my teachers. The best years of my life have been spent at this school and I have always had the support of my friends, family and teachers, and I would like to take the opportunity to thank everyone. Without these people by my side I would not have been able to develop into person I am today.

Frank Martin

Six years at RSGC has done more for me than I ever expected. The great guys in my year and the great teachers I've had have made it a wonderful experience. RSGC has shown me what I'm capable of and what I should work harder at. I have to thank my teachers for guiding me to academic success I had never considered myself capable of, and wouldn't have been without their help. I have to thank all the guys in my year for making it a fun time, especially when class got a little dull. Its been a long haul but a good one, and I've got more from RSGC than I could have ever hoped for. It has been, in the immortal words of Mr. D'Arcey, "So Good!"

What a long strange trip it's been. But one that I would never want to miss out on. I was only at RSGC for four years, but they were some of the best years of my life. The whole thing went by so fast, and it's been full of great memories that will last a life time. All those people who have 'Silent memories' beside their name were probably just astounded by how fast the year went by and didn't get their quote in on time, but I assure you if you ask them, they'll have a million great stories to tell you about their time at RSGC. I could go on for a little while with some stories now, but instead of wasting time as space writing it out I won't. If you were really interested you would come ask me.

I would, however, like to thank my parents for getting me through the time at RSGC, and more importantly giving me the chance to go to such a great school. I also want to thank Ms. Girvan for being one of the best teachers I've ever had, and also for being such a great advisor. I also want to thank Dr. Leatch for getting me into university with his great marks. (A piece of advice for anyone going into Gr. 11 or 12, take as many Leatch courses as possible.) MS. WAGAR, how would I have gotten through Gr. 12 without you. (Another piece of advice for anyone at the school, make friends with Ms. Wagar, anyone who is will tell you why.)

My four years at RSGC have been the best years of my life. I have grown in so many ways, and I can't thank everyone enough for that. All my teachers have been fantastic in making my experience so great. Thank you Mr. V for showing me the way and being as much a friend as a teacher. I'd also like to thank Mr. Reid for always being cheerful and making my classes more entertaining. My parents have been fantastic as well, so thank you guys! Basketball has been something I pride myself on, so thank you Coach Loucks and Coach Sarella for helping guide us to that championship! High school is a learning experience for everyone. How you live through that learning experience will shape who you are for the rest of your life. I have always tried to make the most of my time, and

I hope that future students will try to live these years as best they can and carry on the RSGC legacy. I always have been, and always will be a Knight!

Over the past ten years at RSGC, not only have I met some of my best friends, but made some of my greatest memories. I remember constantly fearing Dr. Barlow, having Mr. McElvry threaten to through me out the window, Mr. Thornbury as my home form teacher, and making a CD with A Band. But the majority of these memories took place in the senior school. I'll never forget traveling to Japan and Russia with the band, playing in the RSGC-Havergal play, leading the hockey and rugby teams, and the horrors of A Lakota Vision. Of course I'll never forget my tumble in Squamish, or that ambulance ride to Mount Sinai. But not everything at RSGC was fun a games. Looking back on these ten years, I can see that I've had the most knowledgeable and helpful teachers who are always there to give a helping hand. Big thanks going out to Mr. D'Arcy, not just for BTTIO, or the countless hours of ball hockey, but grade 11 Computer Engineering, by far one of the most inspirational courses I've ever taken. But one last thanks going out, and by far the biggest. These ten years wouldn't have been anything if it wasn't for the constant support from my parents. They've always been there to keep me motivated and not let me fall behind. Thanks!

I came to this school in Grade 9 and found it hard to adapt to the new classes, for example when a teacher would walk into the class I would almost always forget to stand up. I also initially found it hard to refer to teachers by "sir" or "ma'am", but it quickly became second nature. The R.S.G.C. environment really helped excel and reach my full potential and I am grateful for that. I would like to thank my parents for sending me here; Mr. D'Arcy who was my teacher for three years and also helped me win two ball hockey championships; Mr. VanHerk for helping me get to university; and Mr. Fowler my previous advisor who gave me confidence to choose a difficult schedule in my graduating year.

Erik Reed

"Thank you" is something that you will read a lot over these pages, and I just have too many people and too few words available to be able to thank everyone who helped me through high school individually. So thank you to... My family, you supported every decision I made, no matter what it was, and I love you so much for that; to Mrs. Kaye for simplifying the complex equation that is my life, you're an asset to the school; to my friends for making high school the most fun time of my life (CLJ the life of grade 9); and to all my teachers, who stretched the boundaries of my mind and showed me what I was capable of. You all pushed me and showed me just how far I could go, and I hope to go much farther. A decade of my life was spent at RSGC and I will never forget it. I will do my best to uphold the Georgian Code in any and all of my endeavours, and any time I shake someone's hand I'll look them straight in the eye and grip their hand firmly. Thank you all.

I have had 4 wonderful years a RSGC. I would like to thank my parents for their nagging and annoying comments about my grades. To all of my teachers that have gotten me to this point in my life.

Thank you to Mr. D'Arcy for giving me the opportunity to be the Ball Hockey Steward (it got me into university). Mr. Stevens it has been fun to tripping with you. Donnelly loved your class, wouldn't have changed a thing. To all of my classmates it has been a pleasure to have spent 4 years of my life with you. To me, Royal St. Georges College is a place where growth takes place. Growth as both an individual and as a community. If I were to describe what I see as a chapel surrounded by a prison with one word, it would be devotion.

With natural growth and maturity comes the development of relationships, and an understanding of what it is to be a part of a community. Over the four years I have spent here at St. Georges, I have found the devotion of my teachers, the staff, and my peers and friends to be outstanding. Everyone, be it teachers or students all have a lot to learn from one another, and within a brilliant tight knit group such as us Georgians, its easy to get ahead in the world simply by opening your eyes and ears to let leak in the gold that is the knowledge of our collective community. Thank you to all. You have all left me with a truly existential experience.

Life, love, school, work, play; they're all like a box of chocolates. You always know what you're gonna get because of the little rubric that's awaiting right in between the lid of the box and the pad that sits on top of the chocolates.

...and don't you hate it when you go in for a handshake mid conversation and both parties involved in the shake try letting go at separate times, and you wind up getting this kind of tug-of-war, pulsing handshake that just feels altogether awkward? Perhaps this is why Mr. Hannaford always reinforces eye contact.

For now, and forever a Georgian and a knight.

grad quote.. When I came here 4 years ago I was a quiet, shy kid. Now I'm a loud, obnoxious one. Yeah, I've had some times when I've thought that I wanted to leave RSGC and never look back..no school is perfect, and RSGC is no exception. But, I HAVE had some fun here, and met a lot of people who have taught me lessons I'm never going to forget. As for teachers, this place has to be one of the best. You go through a lot of learning and growing up from the time you're 14 until the time you're 18, and they really support you here. Mostly, I want to thank Mrs. Miller, Mr. Shum and Ms. Girvan, since they've seen me from beginning to end and helped me through it all. Oh, and of course, Mom and Dad, thanks for the endless support. Well, I'm done, so I'll end off with some quotes that only a select few will understand, and I'll probably end up laughing at in 20 years..

In short, thanks to my teachers and friends for a great 4 years at RSGC. Good luck in the future!

Chiranjeev Singh

Ten years ago, when I first came to St. George's I had no idea what the school had in store for me. Whether it was learning how to tie a tie, playing on the tarmac at recess, screaming our chants (from RSGC... KNIGHTS! KNIGHTS! KNIGHTS! to Dieter ones), becoming a Steward, or getting elected as a Prefect; some of my greatest memories have been at St. George's.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my parents for always being there for me and supporting me in all my endeavors. My many thanks to all of the teachers and staff; you are one of a kind. My special thanks to Mr. Hannaford, Mr. VanHerk, Mr. Rankin, Mr. James Lee, and Ms. Somerville – you have all inspired me in one way or another. I would like to thank all my friends, we've finally reached the end of this chapter in our lives, let's show the world what we can do from here. Finally, I would like to thank the entire RSGC community, whose values, character, and energy have all become an integral part of my personality.

Thanks for all the amazing memories.

It's really quite hard to summarize all of high school in so few words. RSGC has so much to offer and it's been a thrill to be a student here for the past six years. In that time I've made some great friends, played on some great sports teams, and been able to pursue the drums further, on top of numerous other activities. Thanks a lot to my parents for their support and for sending me to RSGC, my friends for all the good times, my coaches for helping me keep the balance in my life, and to all my teachers for making my academic pursuits more enjoyable. A particular thanks goes out to Mr. Lee for Sr. Hockey, Mr. Van Herk for all his work helping me get into college, Mr. Hannaford for being who he is, Mr. Schroeder for the golf team, King Leach for sharing his vast knowledge, Ms. Somerville, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Holdsworth, and for anyone else who I have inconveniently forgotten. It's going to be hard to leave RSGC; this place will remain with me forever and I'm sure I will miss it a lot. Hopefully I can find some solace by golfing in January next year and wearing shorts year round.

Geoffrey Squibb

It's been ten years since my first day at RSGC, and what surprises me most isn't the time that's passed, but how much I have changed. One thing I'm sure of is that it will be hard to leave, as there are so many things about this place I have come to love. I'm not certain any of us yet fully appreciate our unique traditional values, including chapel, the services, and the choir, where I have spent many wonderful years of my life. I've had many unbelievable teachers who have shown me so much about life, whether they knew it or not. I've also received outstanding support, in all respects, from my family; for which I am eternally grateful. Then there are the boys who have made these ten years so memorable. All the fun times and crazy stunts; I wouldn't have had it any other way. "Non, je ne regrette rien." It's been quite the ride guys and I'll miss all of you. So, my final message is: follow your calling and do what you love most. As the Gnostics urged, 'Knowing Thysel' truly is the most exalted overarching task for each of us during this long, strange trip we call Life. Wherever we end up, may success and happiness lie in our future.

In life there are always good times and hard times. The greatest periods in our lives are those where the good outweigh the bad. My time at RSGC was one of those. I will never forget my time within these halls. I will always remember the great times I've had and the friendships I've made that will last throughout the years. I will always be able to look back at my life at RSGC and smile warmly and remember those happy times, good and bad. For that I thank everyone, my teachers who have helped me get through my classes, to my friends who shared my experiences, and to my family who has helped me along. So good by RSGC, you will always have a special spot in the back of my mind and I thank you for it.

Brodie Townley

The past nine years at R.S.G.C. have been amazing and possibly the best times of my life. I would like to thank my parents who supported me through all the highs and the lows and my brothers, Taylor and Stratton; I don't know how the school handled all of us. I will never forget the friends that I have made: WB, JL, SB, DD, JD, AB, DL, EG, GS, CJ, CR, BD, JV HO, IS and, last of all, DJ Von Baller. I won't forget the days at Maxton's, Dominican '97, Squamish, Norval, and Tiesto. Finally, the people who supplied me with all the education I needed: Thornbury, Evans, Ms. Deurksen, Newton, Rankin, Reid (nicest person on the planet), and the man who would take a bullet for King Leach (aka Caesar). Ms. Wager, thank you for reminding me about my "physio appointments" all the time, giving me black shoes and black socks and entertaining me during my spars. I don't know what kind of person I would have become had if I never went to R.S.G.C. It really has become my second home.

Good morning teachers, parents and classmates. My name is Jack Gross and I have been at RSGC for two years now, but it seems like much longer. Today I am happy to be speaking on behalf of the grade 8 graduating class of 06-07.

Two years ago when we were all still in grade six, we came into this very room for new boys day and heard a fear instilling speech from Mr. Darvazi where we learnt that if we couldn't handle the workload, we would be drowning by the end of September. We came back to the Chapel for our first day of grade 7 and were split up into classes, and soon learned that Mr. Darvazi wasn't actually that frightening. Everyone was soon making friends and we remain good friends today as we are leaving the junior school.

Throughout the two years I've been here there have been many great memories. All the field trips we've had like the play at Harbord, the Holocaust center, AGO, and the two cold outward bound trips, all of the school dances, our amazing hand trip to Chicago that went almost smoothly, football in the courtyard, peg on the tarmac (while it lasted), all of the sports teams, and Fraser's colossal rugby tackle have all be amazing things that we will never forget. All of these events have made our time here in the junior school a great one.

All these things could not have happened without the help of our teachers. Mr. Darvazi with his booming voice and long stories, and Mr. Bibby who had a mysterious girlfriend that everyone bugged him about took us through grade 7. Mr. Algario (shh, we're done now baby, we're done) who taught us how to split open a cows eye. Mme. Bonnette took us through French for two years, willingly or unwillingly, and Ms. Uhr who taught us about Shakespeare and JD Salinger. Maybe next year the grade 8's won't smell as bad for you two! Thank you to the lunch ladies and to Ms. Kirkland and Mr. Hannaford who run the show. Mr. Jamieson, Mr. Wade-West and Mr. Martin also must be thanked for teaching us music every single day. And thanks to Mrs. Toguri for her patience with us this year in art. We should also say a thank you to our parents who have given us the opportunity to come to a school like this and who get up every day early in the morning to send us off.

We have had a great group of guys this year in grade eight, and it will be very sad to see some of our friends leave us, and our group as it is now will be missing two members. But a whole different group will be made when all of the new boys come in grade 9. When we cross the tarmac there are many great things to look forward to, like a little more freedom, and bigger dances. New teams, clubs, and experiences await us in the senior school, and I'm sure everyone will do well in our future careers at RSGC.

As this year comes to a close we say goodbye to all of the old things and welcome all the new changes and experiences, but our time here in the Junior School will stay with us in the Senior School. Thank you, and have a great summer everyone.

Jack Gross
Grade 8 Valedictorian

We finally made it. It's the finish line ladies and gentlemen and the grads of 07 are leaving the RSGC pack. But of course, we couldn't have done this alone.

The support from our teachers, parents and friends on the sidelines has made all the difference. Whether it be that refreshing splash of wisdom from your English teacher, or that painful slap on the back from your calc test, each of us achieved the motivation we needed to keep going. Many of us attempted to ignore the fans cheering us on, but it was no use. Many tried to hide from the challenges this journey contained, but hiding was hopeless. Every single one of us broke through a sturdy shell at this school, and best of all, we did it together. The thought of doing it alone almost scares me. I couldn't imagine getting the urge some of the hard times without Mr. D'Arcy's life lessons or without Mr. Hannaford's random, yet consistent, interruptions to our prefect meetings. I can't say that I won't miss the dances, the lip syncs and the formals. I certainly won't forget about the 12 minute runs, the phys and my attempted assembly jokes that even Mr. Holdsworth himself wouldn't laugh at. The spores, the eagle help, and Leatch chants. These memories made us who we are and that's why it is so important to thanks those who have been there for us. What else can I really say? The future is standing at our doors with a super sized platter of opportunities and not only can we afford such a delicious serving, but we have enough for the tip.

But before we walk out of these chapel doors tonight and make our way to the refreshments outside, I think we should all take a look back. Let's look at the things that made us smile. The things that made us wonder. And for those softies out there, the things that made us cry.

One of my most memorable experiences at this school was on our grade 7 outward bound hiking trip. On this trip we didn't just hike through the vast and immense forestry of Algonquin Park, but we got to go on a swing. Not just any swing. On this particular contraption, one person is harnessed up and then pulled in the air by the rest of the group, until a desired height, and then released to enjoyably swing back and forth. I remember when it was my turn. They strapped me up in seconds. I was already in the air. Slowly being pulled to the top I was excited but yet frightened when I looked down and noticed that Sheldon Ho had lost his grip and was being dragged through the mud face first. I held my breath and closed my eyes. After that glimpse many feelings flooded through my body and mind; anxiety, excitement, sickness until I felt a sudden jerk. I was at the top. The rest was up to me.

I now had two options. I could let go of the lever securely gripped in my left hand and safely experience an enjoyable swim from 50 feet in the air. Or, option B, I could give my group the thumbs up and shamefully be lowered back to the ground. I was in no mood for option B mainly due to the unpleasant threats received from my fellow classmates down below. So I took in a small breath and let go of the lever in my left hand. I survived.

feeling you experienced on the way up. It's not easy. No matter how you look at it. We're all going to have to leave that experience behind us and look into the future. I'm just thankful that I don't have to do it alone. Even though I may never see some of you guys again, the memory of that fateful climb to the top will always stay with me, and I hope it stays with you.

Short and sweet is my style so without further adieu, it has been a privilege to be a part of this class and I have been honored with the opportunity to represent them tonight. Thank you.

One of the great pleasures you can enjoy and one I would encourage you all to partake is to understand and study the origin of words.

Members of the board and Georgian Parents Guild, esteemed colleagues, parents, guests, and most importantly the class of 2007,

Years ago I remember learning about the origin of the word "sincere". During the era of Michelangelo, white marble was the sculptor's stone of choice. The problem was that the value would be lost if there was a crack or even a scratch in the final work. In order to disguise any such imperfection, wax was melted and put on each crack. The Latin word "sine" (without) and "cera" (wax) together was combined to form the word sincere. The translation being without wax.

But there remains one word or term that poses a dilemma when one attempts to arrive at a definition. It's difficult to discover the origin and true meaning of the word Georgian. To most of us the meaning seems obvious, we can sense it, feel it, and clearly it is the essence of what we are all about, yet no one takes the time to define it...of course. The reality and advantage and beauty is that we don't have to define it. The meaning originates within the heart not some obscure fourth dimensional concept. The definition of Georgian starts with the heart and continues within the deepest part of all of us. Yes it is quite spiritual and if one uses it as an adjective there is no need to explain. Something Georgian is...well...Georgian.

And yes, gentlemen the class of 2007 you are now Georgians. Whether you like it or not you have a label that will remain with you forever. And you individually must go forth and figure out what it means.

Now, far be it for me to suggest that you need any help, or advice. After all the wisdom accumulated by a 17 or 18 year old is totally complete. So at the risk of being a trifle presumptuous, let me try to help you as you attempt to figure out what a Georgian is.

Building on the African theme of this past year and drifting back to the origin of the words "cool" or "coolness" comes from a West African culture...the Yoruba culture. Their expression "itutu" or "coolness" simply means the ability to connect with one's inner divinity.

So it is clear to me that Georgians are cool. They know themselves, are comfortable in their own skin, proud of who they are and where they came from, confident they have knowledge of their strengths and weaknesses, clear about what they can accomplish, and not afraid to do the right thing. That's pretty cool.

Georgians embrace the cultural themes and expressions of values that you were continually reminded of during your career here. Manners maketh men, the Georgian code of respect, responsibility, and voice just makes sense. You don't hear these concepts day in and day out to waste your time. Adhering to these principles (and forgive the business metaphors) gives you a clear distinctive advantage. They ensure sustainability, they become your key success factors and they do increase your overall competitiveness. You see, true Georgians can't help but become successful.

There are other thoughts or ideas I hope you take with you as you embark on this next phase of your life. And let me take some lessons that you heard this year. Lessons from your faculty. And while I am at this point I would like to acknowledge the value and contribution of each and every staff member. Collectively you will never find a more dedicated, professional or caring group. It continues to be a huge honour for me to work closely with them all.

You can learn a lot from these folks. It goes without saying that Dr. Leach's "top 10 rules of life" should dominate your lifestyle and choices, but beyond this blinding glimpse of the obvious there were other lessons. Since we are assembled here in our historic, significant and beautiful chapel let me give you a couple of examples heard in this setting.

Mr. Farrar reminded you of the importance of faith. Remember his claim. Don't use faith to escape from reality - use it to deal with reality. Strive hard to understand your own faith, embrace it, and use it to help guide you through those difficult times that lurk ahead.

Mr. Fitzpatrick reminded us all that each of us, even Mr. Donnelly, possess unique talents and his plea was to recognize the talents in others. I have always said we must continually force ourselves to look for people's strengths, which enables us to tolerate and accept their weaknesses. And just in case you didn't notice, we all have glaring weaknesses.

Finally, I have a vivid memory of Father David's chapel following the Virginia Tech tragedy. His talk that day was also a tribute to June Callwood and of course the theme was ultimately the power of kindness. Years ago I made a commitment to my wife Susan to remind the graduating class each year about the value of kindness. Of course Father David reminded us about the power of kindness. He wondered out loud about how many of these tragedies have actually been prevented by acts of legitimate, unselfish, random kindness. So gentlemen as Mr. O'Leary would beg you in the junior school please just be kind.

Now you are off. Our mission statement makes it clear that we have an obligation to make every effort to ensure you are prepared for university. Don't forget your roots. Don't forget your parents. Through the ups, downs, miscommunications, angst, stress, emotional outbursts, misunderstandings, heated discussion, throughout all this there has been one constant and that is their unwavering and unconditional love. Gentlemen, you are going to need your parents more than ever. Please don't take them for granted.

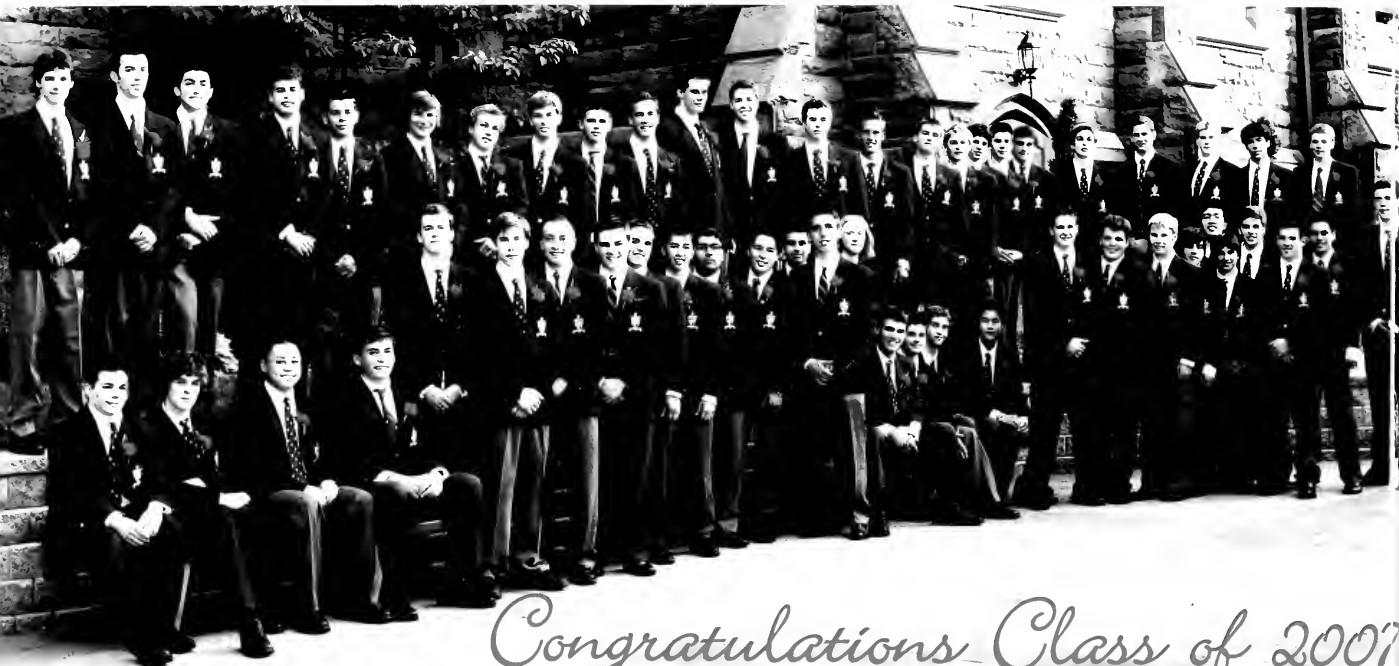

And don't forget each other. I have watched your class grow closer and closer with each passing year. The friendships are strong but friendships need a lot of work and commitment if they are going to survive. It's not easy being a good friend but worth every bit of effort.

In closing, underneath your crest is the Latin expression scientiae pietate: knowledge and duty. Thus your final responsibility. Take with you what you have learned, go forth and use it wisely. I have no doubt you will make us look good, we are already proud and please remember above all...you are Georgians.

Goodbye, good luck and god bless.
